

Keep free speech alive and allow satellite radio to broadcast anything they want to. The consumers will decide what they want to listen to and where they get their information from.